

Free Workshops

for Online and Prospective Online Students

Are you registering for an online course but don't know how to use our online course management system, Etudes?

Or are you just interested in experiencing an online course at LTCC?

Come to any of these FREE hands-on sessions designed to help you get started in your online class by learning the basics of Etudes, the course management system for all LTCC online classes (except selected ANT, SOC, and COU courses). You will learn how to locate your lesson modules, find your assignments, submit assignments with attachments, post and reply to discussion topics, and send and receive private messages.

These hands-on sessions will be taught on:

Wednesday, January 4, 4-6 pm, Room D125

Friday, January 6, 9-11 am, Room D125

Twenty seats per session - first come, first served, no reservation required.

Late arrivals to these workshops are still welcome!

LTCC now has 24/7 help for online students.

You can access help by going to the Etudes Gateway (<https://myetudes.org>), click on "Login Help" on the left and then on the very first link. Scroll down to LTCC. You may request login information for your Etudes class. Or you can use the Student Help site to submit a question.

For personal help Monday-Friday, 8-5 p.m., students can log onto onlineclasses@ltcc.edu
